

Welcome

Welcome to another edition of the HinterWelt Enterprises newsletter! In spite of the distractions offered by an unseasonably warm Minnesota fall, we've been hard at work getting our games out the door.

Coming Soon!

HOUSE OF VEGA IS AVAILABLE NOW! Our first supplement for Shades of Earth, House of Vega, is now available. This 64 page soft cover scenario is set during the Spanish Civil War, where characters are searching for the lost artifacts of Don Altoyo de la Vega. Nazi ghosts, feral mermaids, and a Catholic leather golem are just some of the friends and foes introduced in this setting. At $15 this book makes a great addition to any modern-age game.

Our science fiction core rules, Nebuleon, is still undergoing final edits, but should be ready for release soon. Modeled after the great works of golden age Sci-Fi, this latest core rules is a perfect blend of realism and imagination. Players can choose among several different and highly alien races, or stick with the tried and true human. Classes range from the highly lethal specialist to the worldly trader to the cunning politician. Nebuleon and HinterWelt's Iridium system are versatile enough to delight all fans of science fiction, from Aliens to Babylon 5. Hard cover, 240 pages, $35; look for it at your local hobby shop in early November.

What's News

HinterWelt's so-called corporate retreat to the Black Hills of South Dakota was a complete success, in spite of one bone chilling 29 degree night in a tent. Bill, Sheba, and Linda worked out the 2004 release and advertising schedule, including some interesting online tools and new retailer supports. We're planning on six releases next year. In the Alternate History genre, there will be Roma

Imperious (magic replaces Christianity as the guiding force of the Roman Empire); Brave New World (the Western Hemisphere during the time of the Roman Empire); and Shades of Urban Life (major cities of earth during WWII). The Fantasy genre release will be Tales of Pangaea (a look at the new continent of Gaea). The Sci-Fi genre will include the Free Traders' League (sourcebook for Nebuleon) and FutureSkein (life on an earth where Machines rose up and disposed of Mankind). More details as time goes on...

ACD Game Day

Retailers in the Madison, WI area might want to check out the Alliance Game Day on Nov 15. Impressions Marketing will be repping us there, handing out free samples of Shades of Earth.

Technobabble

We have added previews and character sheets to the Nebuleon site.

(<http://neb.hinterwelt.com>) Please take a moment to check out the art preview and the chapters we have made available.

Check out the pictures of our retreat in the Black Hills of South Dakota. They are available on our personal site <http://personal.hinterwelt.com/>. Enjoy!

The Shades of Earth Generator is available on the CHARGen site. You will be able to generate Characters for the 1930's Alternate History RPG and store them on line for retrieval anywhere. Log in to the CHARGen and enjoy!

<http://www.hinterwelt.com/chargen/>

Well, I'd better get back to Nebuleon edits. Until November...